Final plans for the 17th Annual Quarterback Club Golf outing and Silent Auction are coming together. The registration is at 11:00am with lunch provided by La Rosa's at noon. There will be a shotgun start at 1:00pm with the dinner and Silent Auction beginning at 6:30pm.

Many of the sponsors from last year have renewed this year, plus, we have added several new ones. Sponsorships will have to be confirmed by June 30th to be recognized with signage and included in the program at the outing. Golfers need to pre-register as well as soon as possible, however you can pay the fees at the outing.

A special attraction at the dinner will be the auctioning off of a "Weekend in Green Bay" that will include hotel arrangements and "great tickets" to the game. Tickets are extremely difficult to get for these games particularly as good as these seats are. AJ Hawk will meet with our winners after the game as well for autographs.

In addition, at the silent auction, attendees will have the opportunity to bid on an authentic Green Bay Packer helmet and a professionally framed authentic Packer jersey both sign by AJ Hawk.

We also have a football autographed by Brett Favre, as well as numerous other valuable sports memorabilia and donated item.

Coach Ullery will be our speaker at the dinner. He will update us on the Turf project and preview the upcoming season.

Don't miss this opportunity to spend a great day with Elk football fans and supporters and at the same time help raise the money needed to support a first class program like the one we have. See attached brochure or call Harlan Miller with questions; 436-0400.

FIELD OF TRADITION

Under Construction!

The bulldozers have arrived. Construction is well under way at the Centerville High School stadium for the installation of the Field of Tradition turf project.

As reported in the June 7th edition of the Centerville - Bellbrook Times, the Centerville Board of Education has approved a contract to install synthetic turf at the high school stadium. Gary Smiga, Centerville City School's superintendent, said "Our growing student population has created a need for additional field time for our athletic and band programs. We are pleased that this renovation will allow us to meet this need by dramatically expanding the use of our stadium facility."

The new turf will be available for the first home football game and marching band performances scheduled for Friday, September 1st, 2006.

An artist's rendering shows what Centerville High School's Stadium will look like once the Field of Tradition turf is installed.

Summer Football has Begun!!

Only a few weeks ago our boys were struggling to get up at 6:30-7:00am just to get to their advisories in time to not be tardy. Now, they are getting up 4:15am in order to be at summer conditioning at 5:00am. It's part of the program, and it's part of the tradition of Centerville Elk Football.

The summer football program consists of conditioning, technique camps, and the passing leagues which cover the months of June and July. The conditioning and weight lifting is always in the early morning and the technique camps run four to five hours sometimes from 8:00 am to 2:00pm or late afternoon until 8:00 or 9:00 pm.

The camps are to teach the boys non-contact skills, offensive plays and defensive formations and player responsibilities. The passing leagues are typically a seven on seven non-contact competition with other schools that are designed to refine the skills and timing that is necessary for an effective passing game. Parents, former players, and avid Elk fans come out to the passing leagues to get an early glimpse of what the team will look like this season.

We take a short break at the end of July for vacation, then the boys are back for the infamous three a day practices for two weeks. They finish up with a couple of scrimmages then it's "Friday Night Lights" in Centerville.

I suspect that all high school programs have some type of summer program that touches on the same things our program does. However, I would question whether any high school summer program has more intensity or requires a greater commitment by the boys than ours does! In my opinion, that's a good thing! Coach Ullery has said one of the things that our boys know without question is that whoever they play on any Friday night, regardless of the other team's record, reputation, or talent, that no one has worked harder to be ready to play than we have.

The confidence our boys get from this experience will not only serve them well through the season, but also for the rest of their life.

Value Card Project Update

The Value Card Project is one of the QB Clubs major fundraisers. For the second year, Jerry Blanford is chairman of this project, and he reports that we are on schedule and hoping for another great year. The sponsors are all contracted for this year, and we are pleased to add Skyline Chili as one of our sponsors.

The cards are currently being ordered and in the next issue of this newsletter you will be able to preview this year's card.

The plan at this time is to kick off the pre-sale July 26th the last day of practice before vacation. The boys will be briefed on this year's incentives and encouraged to make pre-sales prior to our "Blitz Day" August 5th.

Jerry also reports that he needs more parent volunteers to drive on Blitz Day, particularly from the Freshman Class. The commitment is to give up 5 hours on August 5th to drive a four or five boy around a designated area in Centerville to go door to door and sell Value Cards. It's a blast, and many parents of upper classmen come back year after year simply because they enjoyed it so much.

If you can help call Jerry at 885-7472 or email him at jerry.blanford@oracle.com.

QB Club Pays Equipment Fee for Parents

Earlier this month all of the parents received an email asking for an additional $30 per boy to cover the extra cost for game shoes and warm-ups for the boys. This occurred primarily as a result of the significantly larger number of boys that came out this year.

The Quarterback Club felt that as a result of all of the other fees and expenses the parents were faced with here at the start of the season, that we would contribute enough to the program at this time such that the parents would not have to pay this fee.

Even though it's too early to tell how effective our fund raisers will be this year, we felt this was a good enough reason for us to dip into our reserves. Our fundraisers over the last few years have been increasingly more successful, and we feel with our growing support through our membership program and a strong commitment from leadership that we will be able to respond to the challenge.

Combined Mother's Club and QB Club Meeting Well Attended

The annual kick off meeting for the season's activities that is sponsored by the Federal Football Mother's Club and the Quarterback Club was by all measures, a success. Over 135 parents attended and were given the opportunity to visit booths set up by the Mother's Club and the Quarterback Club to purchase CHS Football clothing as well as sign up for various volunteer opportunities.

Harlan Miller, President of the Quarterback Club, welcomed the group and shared the opportunity for them to be a part of a very positive experience in their sons' lives by participating in the Quarterback Club or the Mother's Club. Next, the Quarterback Club Officers and Class Reps were introduced. Harlan discussed the mission of the QB Club, which is to provide financial and volunteer support for the advancement of Centerville Football. He further discussed the membership levels as well as the upcoming fundraisers in which the QB Club is involved.

The floor was turned over to Martha Burtenshaw and Lynne Davis, Co-Presidents of the Mother's Club for them to introduce the Mother's Club volunteers and their activities for the year. Martha and Lynne introduced their Officers, Class Representatives and Committee Chairwomen. Martha and Lynne shared that the Mother's Club core mission was to "feed the boys," which involves arranging and serving food at the three-a-day practices in the Summer, pre-game meals, and post game food in the locker room. They explained, however, that over the years the Club's mission has expanded and they have been involved in numerous other projects to support the program. They shared that their primary fundraiser is the pancake breakfast at the 4th of July Americana Festival that is held in Centerville each year.

Coach Ullery was then introduced and he discussed the eligibility for each of the players, from an academic standpoint. He covered both the State and Centerville High School's standards and encouraged students to pursue the opportunity to sign up with the NCAA Clearing House website in August. Coach Ullery also covered in some detail the co-curricular code and the requirements for the boys but also charged the parents to help them to conform with the standards that Centerville High School has set for the boys to be eligible. He reinforced that even good kids will, on occasion, make bad decisions and unfortunately there are consequences of those decisions. He encouraged parents to be not only mindful of the rules but also to make an effort to keep the boys aware of the rules as well as the consequences.

Coach Ullery then covered the Annual Pay-to-Play fees. He discussed the changes on the reserve seats, which can be reviewed on the Quarterback Club newsletter article about obtaining reserved seat tickets. He discussed the injury policies as well as the opt-out provision for physical education and encouraged the parents to make sure that their boys do not wait until their senior year and risk not completing the graduation requirements because they assumed the physical education requirement would be met by their football involvement.

He encouraged both the Mothers Club and the Quarterback Club members to be active participants in the Centerville Boosters, which is the umbrella organization that supports all of Centerville sports. He then went on to discuss his expectations for the boys and the series of recommendations that do not require talent in order to perform. He discussed the boys' limitations on wearing non-Nike apparel on Friday nights because of the sponsorship from Nike.

Coach Ullery introduced Freshman Coach Stan Hughes who indicated that the program he creates for the freshmen mimics the Varsity program. He shared that there are very few differences in structure, with the only differences being in the times and perhaps the length of the practices.

Denny Hayes then concluded the meeting by talking about good health habits that will contribute to reduced injuries and a more positive experience for the players. He reiterated that prevention is the best way to approach good health during football. He discussed things like making sure the boys' diets are proper and that they omit the use of Creatine during the two-a-day practices. He encouraged the purchase of ankle braces and has the knee braces available at a discount for the lineman. He encouraged quality sleep, vitamin supplements and regular hydration so the boys are not drinking large amounts right before practice, but rather a lot of water during the day. He encouraged the boys to break in their shoes and their feet prior to the practices beginning and suggested they look at buying "cool max" socks.

Denny then closed with two appeals, one for a return of the team's towels. The boys forget and carry them home and he needs them back. The other appeal was that he also needs a new refrigerator for the locker room. He appealed to parents who may have an old used one that they could donate to the school. If you have one please contact the Athletic Department.

“Meet the Coaches” Night

The Quarterback Club hosted the “Meet the Coaches” program for their second general membership meeting of the year this past Tuesday, June 20th. All of the CHS Football Coaching staff, except one varsity coach, was on hand to introduce themselves and to add to the discussion.

Coach Ullery acknowledged his entire staff by indicating that the reputation of this Centerville coaching staff among the other area teams is that they have the ability to get the most out of their boys year in and year out.

The coaches then answered questions about how much time they actually spend outside of the regular practice time in order to bring together the kind of program that we enjoy. They indicated that they spend a great amount of time on the phone or meeting after school with other coaches to discuss not only subjects like the new defense that is being added, but also subjects like player personnel and who should be in what position. Coach Ullery again stated how valuable it is for the seniors to recognize their role as leaders on the team and accept that responsibility and lead the team through the entire year.

The coaches indicated that this year's team is perhaps the fastest team we have seen in several years. They indicated that the offensive backfield is clearly the fastest we have had, which will help us tailor some of our offensive plays this year to meet the talent we have. They also indicated that the opportunity for us to run a tight end this year is in part due to the talent, but will open up a lot more opportunities for the running game, as well as passing.

The coaches were asked about the key factors that make the team year in and year out have outstanding results, which is part of the Centerville Football tradition. Coach Noffsinger suggested that, in a single word, it is expectations. The expectations are set not only by the traditions, but also by the coaches and the players and they will not accept anything less than that. In tying together with this, it was interesting that Coach Ciariello put in the defensive handbook a quote that says: "With tradition comes responsibility."

Last year, Coach Ullery said that the most distinguishing thing about our team, as it relates to our legacy, was that when the boys go out on Friday night to meet any team regardless from where, they know that no one has worked harder than they did to get to that point on Friday night.

When the coaches were then asked what is the most remarkable or memorable event that they have experienced throughout their entire experience with Centerville Football, Coach Dave Miller quickly said, without a question, it was the year in which Centerville played Cincinnati Moeller. Moeller came into the game as a #1 Ranked team in the nation and had numerous Division I prospects and no one thought that Centerville could even stand up to them. Instead, Centerville upset them for a victory.

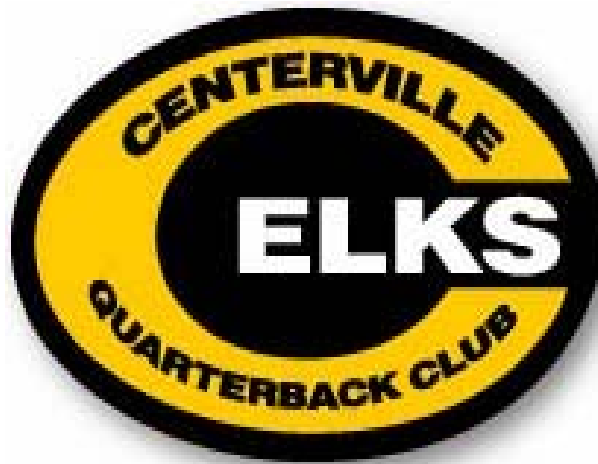

Coach Ullery indicated that his most memorable events, in addition to some of those major victories, were more on a day to day occurrence, when he saw kids meet their goals or exceed their potential or recover from a disappointing play or a disappointing game. He indicated that the growth and development of the boys and the progress that they make through the years is not only the most remarkable and memorable, but also the most rewarding.

Clearly, the parents who were at this meeting did not regret taking a few hours to meet the coaches. It will unquestionably help the parents appreciate what the boys go through in their commitment to Centerville football and the excellence that they will develop in the year to come.

Welcome to the 17th annual Centerville Quarterback Club Golf outing at the beautiful Golf Club at Yankee Trace. This event is our major fundraiser for the Centerville Elks Football Team. Funds raised from this event support the team above and beyond what the school provides. The Golf Outing will help us provide the team:

- Practice T-shirts and shorts
- 25 second play docks
- Locker nameplates
- Annual scholarship
- Web page: www.elksfootball.com
- Trainer's equipment and supplies
- Player of the Week Jackets
- Ironman plaques and team awards
- Locker Room Improvements
- Season Highlight Film

The Centerville Football Team has been very successful throughout the years due to the great support by the businesses and citizens of the community. The event is open to all men and women.
